The screenshot displays the XLMiner software interface within an Excel environment. The main window shows a data table with columns for Species_No and Petal_width. A 'Classify' menu is open, listing various statistical models: Discriminant Analysis, Logistic Regression, k-Nearest Neighbors, Classification Tree, Naive Bayes, and Neural Network. Several charts are visible: a scatter plot of Petal_width vs Petal_length, a HiResChart line chart showing values over observations, a Box Whisker Chart for Species_No, Petal_length, and Sepal_length, a Parallel Coordinates Plot, and a BarChart showing means for the same variables. A 'Filters' panel on the right allows for filtering data by Species_No, Petal_width, Petal_length, Sepal_width, and Sepal_length. Below the filters, a table shows 'Observations (38 out of 150)' with columns for Variable, Value 1, and Value 2.

Petal_width	2.5	1.9
Petal_length	6	5.1
